Scott Cooper specializes in assisting INSYNC Consulting Group's law firm clients with their cases involving computer data. He is the Managing Director of the Electronic Discovery and Forensic Services Division, which includes tactical strategies, preservation, discovery, production, authentication, analysis, and expert reporting related to computer data relative to a case. Scott is a certified Expert Witness, Special Master, court-appointed referee, and a certified member of the U.S. Institute of Management Consultants.

Bob Green is the Managing Director of the Business Automation Services Division of INSYNC and oversees the Network and Information Security Infrastructure practice areas. He specializes in strategic technology planning and helping businesses with computer-based solutions that include accounting and business management software. Bob is one of the few hundred nationally recognized CPA's who have earned the designation "CITP" (Certified Information Technology Professional) from the AICPA.

PRESENTATION

Computer Forensics is now an important part of today's litigation and corporate business fabric. If you would like to learn more, please join us as INSYNC Consulting Group leads a spirited, interactive presentation in which you will be introduced to the practices and methods of Electronic Discovery, Computer Forensics, and their use in both the litigation and corporate settings. INSYNC will provide real world case examples, and graphical illustrations to help you become more aware of the benefits and pitfalls of this fast-growing, ever-changing technological area.
